

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a combination shipping label, containment envelope and packing list that can be produced in a relatively planar configuration suitable for use with non-impact printers. The business form construction provides for a relatively full sized sheet to contain shipping or contents information, containment envelope of suitable size to hold the packing list or other component parts that may be shipped in connection with a particular package as well as a separable return or shipper information label to designate the origin of the package.